Many Goan homes and buildings sport brightly colored exteriors, which add to their allure. Sketched some of these buildings and added color to others to see how they would look.

MY FAV BIT

Lovely day, sketching from high up above the waters of the bay. Made a minimalist sketch of the far side of the bay, with houses coming right up to the wall. From this vantage point the far shore was like a mosaic of building, trees and roofs, quite densely packed.

Though it was a pretty hot and sunny day, we had found a shaded spot in the lee of the ticketing booth for ferries. With the local dogs for company, Subhash and I were trying out different perspectives of the same view.
